

Volunteers play a vital part in the success of Essex Wildlife Trust. As well as helping us to protect Essex's wildlife for the future, our volunteers learn new skills, meet new people and stay fit and active.

We involve volunteers from a variety of backgrounds and offer a range of tasks and activities at locations all over Essex for as much time as you can spare. For many roles, no particular skills or experience are required, as full training will be given and equipment will be provided.

Education

We are committed to inspiring the next generation through a wide range of environmental education experiences that help children to learn, understand and enjoy wildlife. You can support our education team in a number of areas:

- Forest School volunteers assist our education officers, who teach children through discovery and adventure.
- Help by supporting our schools outreach programme, where we teach in the classroom, as well as outdoors and in our visitor centres.

Centres and office

Our wonderful visitor centres across the county give people the opportunity to visit and enjoy some of our reserves with convenient amenities on site.

- Volunteering at one of our centres is a great way to participate and meet people. Being part of one of our visitor centre teams is rewarding and sociable.
- Office based volunteers can assist with activities such as reception, the website, data entry, events and record-keeping.

Landscape Conservation

There are many practical ways that you can support outdoor conservation activities on our reserves:

- Work parties allow you to take part in a range of activities, including woodland management, scrub clearance, coppicing, fence-building and seasonal tasks, such as clearing invasive species.
- Surveying volunteers can get involved with species and habitat surveys, including in rivers and along our coastline, working with the Trust's ecologists.
